

The UCLA Center for the Study of Women presents

EDIBLE FEMINISMS

On Discard, Waste, and Metabolism

Activists and scholars will offer live reflections on how the past lurks in our shared food future and what to do about it.

FEBRUARY 1, 2018 • 4:00 PM
LUSKIN CONFERENCE CENTER, UCLA

FEATURED PANELISTS:

TANYA FIELDS
The BLK Projek

LISA "TINY"
GRAY-GARCIA
Poor Magazine

RICK NAHMIAS
Food Forward

HEATHER PAXSON
MIT

KYLA WAZANA
TOMPKINS
Pomona College

CO-SPONSORS:

Luskin Endowment for Thought Leadership
Luskin School of Public Affairs
Food Studies Graduate Certificate Program
Institute for Research on Labor and Employment
Institute of American Cultures
Iris Cantor - UCLA Women's Health Center
Asian American Studies Center
Department of History
Institute for Society and Genetics
Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion
Division of Social Sciences

Register online: csw.ucla.edu/ed-fem-panel

A fragrance-free event! Learn more: ShareTheAir.ucla.edu