The two-year Master of Public Policy, International Program (MPP/IP) at the Graduate School of Public Policy (GraSPP) offers an extensive and diverse selection of courses taught in English. The program provides future global leaders with an opportunity to learn cutting-edge multidisciplinary approaches to addressing current public policy challenges.

The MPP/IP is designed for those who aspire to be globally competitive public policy practitioners equipped with professional knowledge and practical capacities. Our faculty consists of academics, who provide intellectual foundations, and policy practitioners, who share professional knowledge and experience with students.

MPP/IP students also have access to a broad range of courses offered by other graduate schools at the University of Tokyo. Moreover, the students have a chance to join exchange or double degree programs with top public policy schools around the world. Also readily available are extracurricular activities, including internship opportunities, facilitated by the school to enhance student exposure to and understanding of real-world challenges.

Since it was established in April 2004, GraSPP has trained professionals for work in diverse fields of public policy by delivering an academic education that balances law, political science, and economics together with practical lessons shared by teaching staff with experience working in the public sector.

The predominant aspect of GraSPP is its active pursuit of internationalization. Our Master of Public Policy, International Program (MPP/IP), which allows students to study for a master’s degree exclusively in English, has also attracted a rising number of Japanese students since it was first offered in AY2010. Our students have extensive opportunities for overseas study with exchange or double degree programs in place with a total of 14 leading universities globally, including Columbia University, the Paris Institute of Political Studies (Sciences Po), and London School of Economics (LSE).

GraSPP currently has students from roughly 30 countries. Many of them come with experience having worked in the public sector. Having nearly 1,400 alumni from more than 50 countries to date, we are boosting networks with and among them. The completion of our new International Academic Research Building in 2017 has provided a much-improved educational environment. I urge our students to make the most of the opportunities granted to forge themselves into leading public-policy professionals.

April 2018

Akio Takahara
Dean
Graduate School of Public Policy
The University of Tokyo

Dean’s Message Overview

02
Since it was established in April 2004, GraSPP has trained professionals for work in diverse fields of public policy by delivering an academic education that balances law, political science, and economics together with practical lessons shared by teaching staff with experience working in the public sector.

The predominant aspect of GraSPP is its active pursuit of internationalization. Our Master of Public Policy, International Program (MPP/IP), which allows students to study for a master’s degree exclusively in English, has also attracted a rising number of Japanese students since it was first offered in AY2010. Our students have extensive opportunities for overseas study with exchange or double degree programs in place with a total of 14 leading universities globally, including Columbia University, the Paris Institute of Political Studies (Sciences Po), and London School of Economics (LSE).

GraSPP currently has students from roughly 30 countries. Many of them come with experience having worked in the public sector. Having nearly 1,400 alumni from more than 50 countries to date, we are boosting networks with and among them. The completion of our new International Academic Research Building in 2017 has provided a much-improved educational environment. I urge our students to make the most of the opportunities granted to forge themselves into leading public-policy professionals.

April 2018

Akio Takahara
Dean
Graduate School of Public Policy
The University of Tokyo

03

Overview

The two-year Master of Public Policy, International Program (MPP/IP) at the Graduate School of Public Policy (GraSPP) offers an extensive and diverse selection of courses taught in English. The program provides future global leaders with an opportunity to learn cutting-edge multidisciplinary approaches to addressing current public policy challenges.

The MPP/IP is designed for those who aspire to be globally competitive public policy practitioners equipped with professional knowledge and practical capacities. Our faculty consists of academics, who provide intellectual foundations, and policy practitioners, who share professional knowledge and experience with students.

MPP/IP students also have access to a broad range of courses offered by other graduate schools at the University of Tokyo. Moreover, the students have a chance to join exchange or double degree programs with top public policy schools around the world. Also readily available are extracurricular activities, including internship opportunities, facilitated by the school to enhance student exposure to and understanding of real-world challenges.
Curriculum

MPP/IP builds the foundation of professional knowledge and practical skills necessary for successful careers in government, business, international organizations, and NPOs. The core curriculum is multidisciplinary, consisting of law, politics, and economics. Together with case studies and practical training courses, the program prepares individuals to design, plan, implement, and evaluate policies. Each policy stream with its respective focus is structured as follows.

MPP/IP applicants are expected to demonstrate basic competence for learning law, politics, and economics. MPP/IP consists of two policy streams, namely Economic Policy, Finance and Development (EPFD) and Public Management and International Relations (PMIR).

*Note: Applicants who apply to either IMF-JISPA or WWBGSP should select EPFD.

Economic Policy, Finance and Development (EPFD)

EPFD offers courses suited for those who want to advance their careers in government, business, international organizations or NPOs in the field of economic policy, finance and development.

Public Management and International Relations (PMIR)

PMIR offers courses suited for those who want to pursue a career in government, business, international organizations or NPOs in the field of public management and international relations, including security policy and area studies.

Course Requirements

EPFD

Basic Economics

I. a), b) or c)

- a) Microeconomics for Public Policy
- b) Microeconomics
- c) Microeconomics I and Microeconomics II offered by the Graduate School of Economics

II. a), b) or c)

- a) Macroeconomics for Public Policy
- b) Macroeconomics
- c) Macroeconomics I and Macroeconomics II offered by the Graduate School of Economics

III. a), b) or c)

- a) Statistical Methods
- b) Econometrics for Public Policy
- c) Econometrics I and Econometrics II offered by the Graduate School of Economics

Option 1: One course each from two of the three categories I-III

Option 2: All three courses below:
- a) Principles of Microeconomics
- b) Principles of Macroeconomics
- c) Statistical Methods or Econometrics for Public Policy

8 - 10 credits

PMIR

Law and Political Sciences

- a) Politics and Public Policy
- b) Introduction to International Politics
- c) International Conflict Study
- d) Field Seminar in International Relations

9 credits

Case Studies

8 credits

Minimum credits required for completion: 46

For more details on courses, please check the following websites:

Faculty

Some of Our Faculty Members

Chiyuki Aoi
Professor
Christian Research Fellow, Dept. of War Studies, King’s College London; Academic Program Officer, United Nations University (JGU UNMIRC)
Insurgency and Counterinsurgency Field Seminar in International Relations; Transformation of Warfare and Technology
My lectures focus on the changing character of warfare with the rise of terrorism and the community of states have tried to adapt to the new realities. How can we best understand the evolution of insurgencies, now being waged globally, and the role of technology? How are stabilization operations organized, to what effect? Drawing from my academic and professional experiences in the US, the UK/Europe, and in international organizations, I address these questions.

Jun Arima
Professor
Director General, JETRO London; Deputy Director General, Global Environment Affairs, METI; Head, Country Studies Division of the International Energy Agency
Energy Security; Case Study (International Energy Governance)
Energy security with proper balance with GHG mitigation and economic efficiency is a daunting policy challenge for many countries. I am going to lecture on energy security and international energy governance based on my academic research in the Agency of Natural Resources and Energy, Ministry of Economy, Trade, and Industry, the International Energy Agency and UN climate change negotiations.

Yee Kiang Heng
Professor
Field Seminar in International Relations; Security Studies; New Dimensions or Security in the Risk Age
From Sgdia to the South China Sea, security issues are high on the global agenda. Drawing from past research and teaching experience at universities in Britain, India, and Singapore, I offer courses on International Relations; Security Studies, and Security in a Risk Age.

Masahiro Kawai
Professor Emeritus and Project Professor
Chief Economist, East Asia and Pacific, World Bank; Deputy Vice Minister for International Affairs, Japan’s Ministry of Finance; and Dean, Asian Development Bank Institute
Asian Financial Markets; Asian Economic Development and Integration
I focus on Asia’s economic development, regional integration, and financial issues based on my academic research and policy experiences. Throughout my courses, I ask how Asian countries can maintain sound economic growth without accumulating financial and other vulnerabilities from the external, empirical and political perspectives. I try to inspire students through in-class discussions.

Yoshihiro Kawai
Visiting Professor
Advisor to the Minister of Finance, Poland; Secretary General, International Association of Insurance Supervisors (IAIS); Member, Financial Stability Board (FSB) Global Financial Regulation, Management of International Organizations, Case Study (FSB’s Global Financial Policy-Making)
I will inspire and help students to pursue an international leadership career based on my experience working as an international financial organization and head office as Secretary General for 20 years.

Toshiro Nishizawa
Project Professor
Director General of Country Credit Department, Japan Bank for International Cooperation (JBC); Advisor, World Bank, Economist, IMF, Researcher, MOFA, Sovereign Debt; Case Study (Public-Private Partnerships); Case Study (Finance and Development in Emerging Asia)
I always encourage students to look into real-world issues and flesh out their own opinions. The aim is to help students bridge the gap between theory and practice. I offer courses based on my experience working at JBC, IMF, the World Bank and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA). Every year, I am impressed by the intellectual capital developed and shared by students.

Yoshihiko Uchida
Professor
Director, Bank of Japan; Director, Japan Financial Services Agency
Asset Liability Management and Risk Management in Financial Institutions, Financial Markets and Institutions
My lectures focus on practical issues faced by policymakers in an increasingly interconnected world. How to deal with financial crises? How to facilitate both economic growth and financial stability at once? How to control market risks? I answer these questions by blending theory with my extensive work experience at the BOJ and JFSA.

Kiichi Fujimura
Professor
International Conflict Study; Conflict Prevention and Post-Conflict Politics; Japan in Today’s World

Toshiaki Iizuka
Professor Economics for Public Policy

Keisuke Iida
Professor (Associate Dean, Japan; Professor
Case Study (Japanese Foreign Economic Policy)

Daiji Kawayachi
Professor
Economics for Public Policy; Labor Economics; Case Study (Labor Policy)

Konstantin Kucheryavy
Assistant Professor
International Trade; International Finance; International Trade Policy; International Financial Policy; Economic Crisis

Manabu Nose
Project Assistant Professor
WWF, World Bank; Japan Bank for International Cooperation (JBIC) Advanced Development Economics; Statistical Methods, CAMPUS Asia Joint Course: International Public Policy in East Asia

Hikaru Oshima
Professor Principles of Microeconomics; Economic Analysis of Public Sector

Hiroshi Ohnishi
Professor
Advanced Industrial Organization

Roberto Orsi
Project Assistant Professor
Introduction to Social Sciences; Introduction to International Politics, Ethics and International Relations

Artaka Sakai
Visiting Professor
Ministry of Foreign Affairs; Member of the Board, Mitsubishi Corporation
Foreign Policy

Hideaki Shirayama
Professor (Advisor to the Cabinet Office)
Policy Process and Negotiation; Science, Technology and Public Policy; Social Design and Global Leadership; Case Study (Project Based Learning on the Medical, Environmental and IT innovation and the Role of Public Policy)

Hiroshi Suzuki
Professor
Member of House of Councillors; State Minister of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology
International Financial Policy; Development Economics; Microeconomic Approach to Economic Crisis; Case Study (Current Global Economic Issues); Case Study (Macro-Financial Issues)

Yoshito Takasaka
Professor Development Economics: Microeconomic Approach; Natural Resources and Environmental Economics; Case Study (Empirical Development Microeconomics)

Kenichi Ueda
Associate Professor
Senior Economist, IMF; Section Chief, International Finance Bureau, Ministry of Finance International Financial Policy; Development Economics; Microeconomic Approach to Economic Crisis; Case Study (Current Global Economic Issues); Case Study (Macro-Financial Issues)

*Note: Former positions and affiliations are shown in parentheses.
GraSPP at a Glance

Female: 47% | Male: 53%

Network with Future Global Leaders
GraSPP is one of the most cosmopolitan graduate schools in Japan. About 50% of the student body is composed of international students from over 30 different countries (both advanced and emerging economies). Student backgrounds are equally diverse: many entrants have just completed undergraduate studies while others are professionals from a variety of fields in the public and private sectors. About 40% of all courses are offered in English. Allowing Japanese students to take the same courses in English together with their international classmates forms the basis for strong friendships forged between Japanese and international students.

International students: 48% | Japanese students: 52%

Programs
- MPP/IP*: 41%
- Economic Policy: 24%
- International Public Policy: 20%
- Public Management: 5%
- Legal Policy: 4%
- PhD: 6%

*including students enrolled in CAMPUS Asia Program.

Students from 55 countries have joined GraSPP since its inception.

1,386 - Total GraSPP alumni all over the world

 Ranked 13th - The University of Tokyo
Times Higher Education World Reputation Rankings 2018

213 - Faculty members

“At GraSPP, you may meet your future counterpart at an international negotiation table.”

*All data is based on the database as of April 2018.
School Life at GraSPP

Campus

GraSPP is located on the Hongo Campus, the University of Tokyo’s main campus, in Bunkyo-ku, Tokyo, which occupies about 56 hectares of the former Kaga Yashiki, the Tokyo estate of a major feudal lord. Parts of the 17th century landscaping of the original estate have been preserved to provide greenery and open space.

Library

The University of Tokyo Library System is composed of about 40 libraries, including the General Library, the Komaba and Kashiwa Libraries, and departmental libraries. The General Library is the system’s main coordinating body. Each faculty/institution’s library has a large number of materials in their respective specialized fields.

Gotenshita Memorial Arena

At the Hongo Campus, the “Gotenshita Memorial Arena” can be used for table tennis, badminton, futsal, volleyball, basketball, yoga and swimming. It also has training equipment that can be used. The admission fee is 400 yen per use, with long-term passes also available.

Accommodation

The following are options for accommodation: -UTokyo Dormitories (a limited number of vacancies) -Shared House -Furnished Apartment -Unfurnished Apartment

International Student Adviser

International Student Advisers provide advice to international students regarding their visa, accommodation, daily life, private scholarships and other issues. There are also counseling sessions during the first term for all newly enrolled international students.

Supporting Tutor

The University of Tokyo offers a tutoring program for each newly arriving international student. This program assigns a Japanese or international student as your supporter who can help you to get settled into your new life in Tokyo and on the Hongo Campus.

Japanese Language Course

The University of Tokyo’s Center for Japanese Language Education provides opportunities to learn Japanese for international students and their spouses. Intensive case studies and practical training certainly bring advantages to a person in the cutting-edge era of economic policymaking.

Internship Opportunity

GraSPP offers summer and winter internship opportunities at major companies and government-related organizations for international students.

---

Student Voices

Htein Lin Aung

Myanmar

Class of 2019 / World Bank Scholar
Assistant Director, General Administration Department, Ministry of Home Affairs, Myanmar

In my job, I felt a thirst for knowledge on public policy affairs to contribute to Myanmar’s people. GraSPP has provided me with the most precious opportunity in my life to fulfill my needs. Courses are designed with a good balance between professional knowledge and practical experiences, and are offered by renowned professors and practitioners from various fields. The warm-hearted student support, a comfortable atmosphere for international students with diverse backgrounds, and life at the historic campus are all my ideals.

---

Cecelia Niwa Evans

Japan / U.S.A.

Class of 2019

GraSPP has provided me the opportunity to study international relations from the perspective of Asia. While taking courses taught by leading scholars, I am interning at the National Diet Building. After the University of Tokyo, I will study at Seoul National University and then Peking University to complete my double degree program.

---

Siddhartha Nath

India

Class of 2019 / IMF Scholar
Research Officer in the Department of Economic and Policy Research, Reserve Bank of India

Finding an appropriate balance between economic goals and concerns over legal, environmental and societal issues often poses the hardest challenge to policymakers in Asia. The MPP/IP addresses a host of these issues in a well-designed manner. Its world-class environment with experts from several regions as well as international institutions, and a mix of international students with experiences in varied domains, is a lifetime experience. A rigorous academic curriculum along with intensive case studies and practical training certainly brings advantages to a person in the cutting-edge era of economic policymaking.

---

Putri Sugih Permatahari

Indonesia

Class of 2019 / LPDP scholar*

(*LPDP scholarship is an Indonesian government scholarship program dedicated to furthering Indonesia’s future leaders.)

A good balance of theory, practical experience and professional knowledge is one of the distinctive features of the multidisciplinary courses offered by MPP/IP. With economic and political knowledge as the base, learning directly from renowned and global experts, widely educational and professional diversity among students will precisely answer and fulfill your needs on your way to becoming a future prominent policymaker. Noticeably, GraSPP will attempt to give their best to support your learning process as well.
Double Degree and Exchange Programs

We are actively engaged in international exchange, with a current total of 14 partner schools. Students at both GraSPP and partner schools can enjoy the opportunity of enrolling in a diverse range of classes together while creating new friendships and experiencing each other’s cultures. Under the double degree programs, students can obtain degrees from both the University of Tokyo and the partner university upon satisfying the graduation requirements for both degrees.

GPPN (Global Public Policy Network)

GraSPP is a member of the Global Public Policy Network (GPPN), a partnership among seven top public policy schools from around the world. GPPN is a platform for institutional partnership, research collaboration, and student exchange.

CAMPUS Asia Program

The CAMPUS Asia program has been initiated by trilateral cooperation of the governments of China, Japan and South Korea. The BESETO Consortium comprised of Peking University, Seoul National University and the University of Tokyo offers an unprecedented three-way double degree and exchange program in the fields of International Studies, Law and Public Policy in East Asia. Participating Japanese and South Korean students will be provided with financial support from each government.

*GraSPP - Sciences Po Double Degree Program

This two-year double degree program with Sciences Po’s School of Public Affairs is designed for young professionals who want to gain expertise in the management and evaluation of public policy in both Japanese and European contexts. Students are selected through joint admissions by GraSPP and Sciences Po. Candidates must apply online at Sciences Po’s website. First-year students will study in Paris and the second year in Tokyo.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Partner Schools</th>
<th>Exchange</th>
<th>Double Degree</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SIPA, Columbia University</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>*Sciences Po, Paris</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hertie School of Governance (HSoG)</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fundação Getulio Vargas (FGV) - EAESP</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE)</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crawford School of Public Policy, ANU</td>
<td>TBC</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GPS, University of California, San Diego</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Luskin School of Public Affairs, University of California, Los Angeles</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Heidelberg University</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEC Paris</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IAS, United Nations University</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSIS, Seoul National University</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SIS, Peking University</td>
<td>N/A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Kaori Yoshida
Japan
Class of 2016 / DD student to SIPA
Correspondent at the United Nations, The Nikkei (Nihon Keizai Shimbun)

You’d be surprised how much two years can change your life. Before graduate school, never would I have imagined I would be part of the United Nations press corps. But how much students can transform in so little time in itself is a testament to the quality of the classes and faculty at GraSPP and the Global Public Policy Network. I believe spending time at both GraSPP and SIPA helped me gain the perfect combination of skills I needed to advance my career.

Hiroki Takano
Japan
Class of 2018 / DD student to ANU
Environmental Division, Barak Prefectural Government, Japan

I really appreciate GraSPP’s Double Degree Program for giving me the opportunity to study public policy at the Australian National University. The classes at ANU consist of students of different nationalities and backgrounds. Discussing with these various students and renowned professors within the highly interactive courses has allowed me to approach policy issues from a wide range of perspectives. I believe this experience has enabled me to devise effective policy solutions in order to deal with today’s complicated challenges, which we cannot rely only on past examples to solve.

Haemin Choi
Korea
Class of 2014 / DD student from SKNU
Researcher and Project Manager, NEAR Foundation

I am the first CAMPUS Asia Student to go from Seoul National University to GraSPP. My life as a Campus Asian completely changed the stereotypes and prejudices I had with regard to East Asia. As a result, I proudly received a job as a project manager for Korea-China-Japan reconciliation, co-existence and co-prosperity based on my experiences. Please keep in mind that seeing is believing. Go out and find your own Asia.
Alumni Voices

Suteera Sorns
Thailand
Class of 2016
Economist, Class of 2013
Thailand Alumni Voices
The State Council
Research Center, Class of 2016
— China
Hui Han
China
Class of 2016
Development Research Center, The State Council
Mai Hayano
Japan
Class of 2016 / CAMPUS Asia Program
— Asia

Suman Dahal
Nepal
Chief Tax Administrator, Internal Revenue Department, Ministry of Finance
MPP/IP revolutionized my life, broadened my arena of knowledge and skills, and deepened my views towards governance and public policy issues. With the renowned faculty members, this program provides various opportunities for students to flourish through gaining different knowledge and skills via case studies, class presentations, report writing, educational excursions and multicultural social gatherings. Back in government, I acquired a promotion through competitive examination to work at the National Reconstruction Authority and now at the Ministry of Finance as a Chief Tax Administrator. I truly expect that many talented minds from all over the world will have a chance to study at GraSPP and make their futures bright.

Nicole Aya Konai
Brazil
Class of 2016
World Bank Group Analyst, Development Finance
The diversity of the student body at GraSPP has broadened my view and allowed me to understand the complexity of working with people from different cultures and careers. After two years at GraSPP, I realized that I am not alone anymore when I am abroad. Many former classmates and professors have become people I can rely on. I am thankful that wherever I visited, GraSPPers were there to provide me with good friendship, professional advice and kind support to ease the challenges I faced.

Gemma Aquino Bala
Philippines
Class of 2015
Sector Economic Development Specialist, National Economics and Development Authority (NEDA)
I earned my master’s degree in MPP/IP in 2016 as a GraSPPer at the University of Tokyo and Columbia University. That opportunity to join the World Bank Group at its headquarters in Washington, DC. Not only providing me with substantial knowledge and hard skills necessary for my professional success in the development field, GraSPP also prepared me to work in a multicultural environment where cultural sensitivity and interpersonal skills are key. I had a very positive experience in Tokyo and will always be grateful for the support of friends, professors and staff at GraSPP.

Duong Nguyen
Vietnam
Class of 2016 State Bank of Vietnam
As a master’s student at GraSPP, the time I spent there is one of the memories that I will cherish for the rest of my life. I had regular contact with leading professors and practitioners in their respective fields, made friends with admirable peers of various nationalities and backgrounds, and thus expanded my networks. Now back in my country, I have made progress in my job as reflected by my improved qualities, and have successfully made recommendations for better policymaking in the fields of international economy and financial markets.

Dinara Tazewtontova
Kazakhstan
Class of 2017
Deputy Head of Macroeconomic Policy Analysis Division, Financial Stability Department, National Bank of Kazakhstan
After completion of MPP/IP under scholarship from IMF-JISPA in 2016, I resumed work at the Financial Stability Department of the National (Central) Bank of Kazakhstan and was promoted to a higher job position. My knowledge and analytical skills were enriched tremendously through taking courses under the guidance of faculty members whose academic and practical experiences are recognized around the world. Fulfilling demanding but interesting tasks, learning about the latest currency policy issues at conferences and seminars and discussing them later in class helped me to improve my critical thinking ability and to take a systematic approach to problem solving. Another obvious benefit of MPP/IP is related to its multicultural environment with the rare opportunity of contacting and understanding people from various cultures and making friends with them. Studying in GraSPP was an unforgettable and valuable experience and I am very grateful for it.

Antoine Quintallet
France
Class of 2017
Associate, Real Estate Finance Division, Crédit Agricole Corporate & Investment Bank, Tokyo Branch
Enrolling in the MPP/IP program was the most critical decision of my life, and the best to date. Not only did GraSPP give me the opportunity to rub elbows with some of the brightest minds of our generation and engage with passionate faculty members, but it also provided me with a privileged environment to shape my professional projects and reflect on my aspirations. Those two years at the University of Tokyo, including one semester at Seoul National University, were punctuated by lessons and encounters that molded the young professional I am today, and helped me realize my full potential all the while forging lifelong friendships. For all of the above, I will forever be grateful for the unwavering support of my family, friends, professors and all the administration at GraSPP during those two unforgettable years.

The diversity of the student body at GraSPP has broadened my view and allowed me to understand the complexity of working with people from different cultures and careers. After two years at GraSPP, I realized that I am not alone anymore when I am abroad. Many former classmates and professors have become people I can rely on. I am thankful that wherever I visited, GraSPPers were there to provide me with good friendship, professional advice and kind support to ease the challenges I faced.

The diversity of the student body at GraSPP has broadened my view and allowed me to understand the complexity of working with people from different cultures and careers. After two years at GraSPP, I realized that I am not alone anymore when I am abroad. Many former classmates and professors have become people I can rely on. I am thankful that wherever I visited, GraSPPers were there to provide me with good friendship, professional advice and kind support to ease the challenges I faced.

The diversity of the student body at GraSPP has broadened my view and allowed me to understand the complexity of working with people from different cultures and careers. After two years at GraSPP, I realized that I am not alone anymore when I am abroad. Many former classmates and professors have become people I can rely on. I am thankful that wherever I visited, GraSPPers were there to provide me with good friendship, professional advice and kind support to ease the challenges I faced.

The diversity of the student body at GraSPP has broadened my view and allowed me to understand the complexity of working with people from different cultures and careers. After two years at GraSPP, I realized that I am not alone anymore when I am abroad. Many former classmates and professors have become people I can rely on. I am thankful that wherever I visited, GraSPPers were there to provide me with good friendship, professional advice and kind support to ease the challenges I faced.
PhD in International Public Policy at GraSPP

The doctoral program has been launched from AY2016. The main research areas of the doctoral program are International Finance and Development, and International Security. The program aims to nurture highly skilled researchers in law and politics and economics. In addition, it aims to foster cross-cutting, multidisciplinary and practical skills for policymaking.

For more information: http://www.pp.u-tokyo.ac.jp